BIENVENIDOS

The image shows a vibrant nursery filled with various types of plants. In the foreground, there are several plants with long, thin, reddish-brown leaves. Behind them, a dense wall of green foliage is visible, including a prominent banana tree with large, broad leaves. The background is filled with more greenery, and a white structure, possibly a greenhouse or a building, is partially visible through the trees. The entire scene is framed by a green geometric overlay consisting of several overlapping, semi-transparent shapes in various shades of green, creating a modern and natural aesthetic.
