ABOUT MAKING THE WORLD FIT WOMEN

Gloria Steinem

She is an American feminist and promoter of women's rights, she participated in the campaign for ERA.

She became an admired and therefore prominent figure in the 1980s of this campaign, she fought for equal rights between the sexes.

In 2005 this woman created with the help of Jane Fonda and Robin Morgan the Women's Media Center which consisted in highlighting women in the media and making them just as important.

She will then end up giving a very noticed speech on January 21, 2017 during the women's march in Washington.

gloria steinem is very determined to succeed in her goal of winning gender equality, she is also very courageous which makes her exceptional and a fighter for women's rights, she is a fighter moreover she really wants to fight for women's rights that she receives the medal of freedom by barack obama in 2013.

I admire her because she embodies important values for gender equality which is also quite complicated because in her time the two were not at all equal. in addition, she also fought for abortion, today she is still an activist who fights for the future generation.
